Superintendent seeks compromise from school bond issue opponents

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
County School District Superintendent Terrell Randolph is appealing to school bond issue opponents in northern Hancock County to form a committee and meet with the school board on possible solutions for overcrowded schools in the system.

A concentration of voters in northern Hancock County defeated the bond issue last Saturday.

"I am concerned about the children's welfare," stated Randolph Tuesday, "and I am willing to compromise."

"My objective and the Board's is to provide the best education possible for children in the Hancock County School District," continued the Superintendent.

Randolph said he would like such a committee of northern county opponents of the $3,383,000 capital improvements bond issue proposal to voice specific objections to and opinions on what would be best for the school system.

"I would like for the northern opponents to submit suggestions which will solve the problems of overcrowding and the need to reduce transportation distances," emphasized the superintendent.

The bond issue was defeated by a 55 to 45 percent margin. A 60 percent approval from voters was required for the measure to pass.

Of 2,995 voters who turned out, 1,646 favored the measure and 1,349 were opposed.

In the wake of the election this week, officials in Bay St. Louis voiced interest in the possibility of combining the Hancock County District and the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District.

"I'm in favor of combining the two school districts," said Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett.

"Hancock County is too small for two school systems which causes a costly duplication of services," explained the mayor.

"Hancock County is presently undergoing tremendous positive growth," he continued, "and a good school system should be part of that growth."

The mayor said the Bay School System is lacking classrooms in all four city schools, as well as facilities for band halls.

The mayor also agreed with Randolph, saying, "We should do what will bring overall benefit to our children—they are the objective."

US-90 mishap injures two mothers-to-be

By RICH ADAMS
Two pregnant women, one in labor, suffered minor injuries Saturday night when the station wagon in which they were riding was struck by another car on US-90 as they were being escorted to Gulfport Memorial Hospital by Bay St. Louis Police.

A third woman, driver of the station wagon, also reported she suffered minor injuries in the incident, police said.

According to Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams, Mary Cabiness, 20, of Bay St. Louis who was experiencing labor and near delivery; Linda Sullivan, 29, Waveland, also pregnant; and Kathleen M. Watts of West Monroe, La., approached Bay Police at a convenience store on US-90 and requested a police escort to the hospital.

The police offered an escort to the east side of the US-90 automobile bridge, where Pass Christian Police were waiting to escort the ladies to the hospital.

According to Williams, Bay Auxiliary Patrolmen Thomas Carver and Michael Hobby led the car eastward, towards the bridge with their blue lights on and sirens blaring.

"Approximately 58 feet from the intersection of Hwy. 90 and Beach Blvd. the light began to change from green to yellow," Williams said.

"A car in the westbound turning lane, which had a red light, proceeded across the intersection and struck the police car in the front side," the chief explained.

The car, driven by Sheila La Fontaine, 19, Bay St. Louis, apparently bounced off the police car and struck the front end of the vehicle carrying Ms. Cabiness, Williams said.

Mobile Medic was called to the scene to transfer the injured to Gulfport Memorial Hospital, Williams added.

According to the police, Ms. Cabiness reportedly suffered cuts about the forehead and Ms. Sullivan suffered cuts and abrasions on the face and a broken finger.

Ms. La Fontaine and a passenger in her car, Julia Piazza, were reportedly uninjured.

According to a spokesman at Gulfport Memorial Hospital, Ms. Cabiness later gave birth to a boy at the hospital and both are reported in good condition.

No charges have been filed pending further investigation into the mishap by Assistant Bay Police Chief Frank Hess and Bay Police Investigator David Saller, Williams reported.

Hamilton to terminate school board 'career'

By RICH ADAMS
Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Trustee Robert Hamilton will not seek reappointment in March to that post, which he has held since 1959, according to Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett.

Bennett said Monday he was informed that Hamilton does not desire reappointment to the board slot for another term, and asked the mayor not to consider his name for reappointment to that position.

"Mr. Hamilton asked me not to even consider his name," the mayor said Monday.

Bennett said he has received two lists with a total of eight names as recommendations for the vacancy from citizens in the school district.

The decision of a replacement for Hamilton will go before the Bay City Council at a meeting Feb. 20, with the new trustee's term to begin March 3.

"Mr. Hamilton's performance speaks for itself," the mayor said. "He had to do a tremendous job to remain on the board 20 years through three administrations."

"Twenty years is long enough," Hamilton said Tuesday.

"I would not have stayed that long if I had not felt an obligation to my community, which everyone should feel," he added.

Bay School Superintendent J. D. McCullough declined to comment on the mayor's announcement that Hamilton will not seek reappointment.

Another board member to represent the school district area outside the City of Bay St. Louis will be elected when voters from that area take to the polls between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday, March 3 at Bay Senior High School.

The election will fill a remaining one-year portion of the term of Jean Townsend who relocated to Washington State in August.

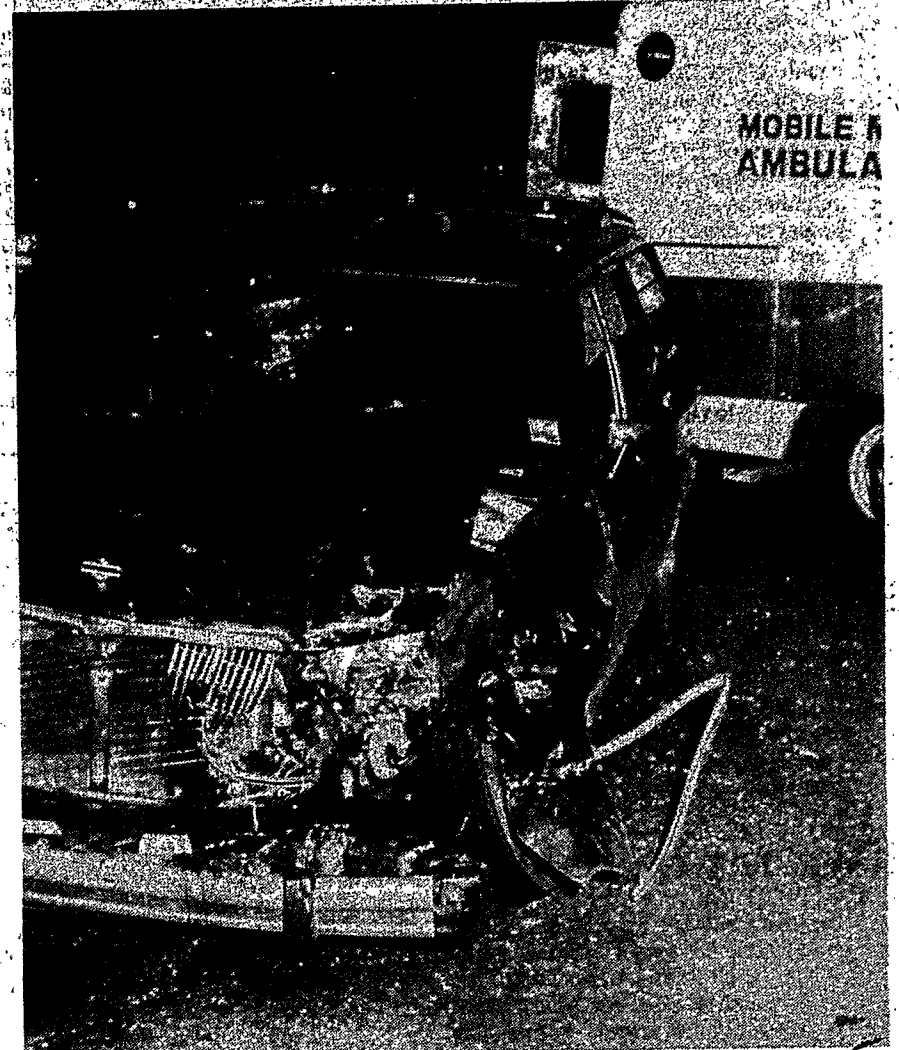

Dr. John Levens was appointed to fill Ms. Townsend's slot on the school board until it could be filled through the March election.

Another election will be conducted in 1980 to fill the position for a full five-year term.

Candidates who have qualified for the position are Linda Penrose and Betty T. Diboll, both of Waveland.

WATER MAIN BROKEN-A water main under St. Francis Street adjacent to Commagere Park broke at 4 a.m. Tuesday washing out a hole and flooding the surrounding area. Bay St. Louis Water and Gas Utilities Supervisor Alton Sick reported. Crews from City Utility and Street Departments began work on the problem at 5 a.m. and the leak was stopped about 9 a.m. Work is still underway at the site. "The break caused water pressure to decrease all over the Bay," said Sick. "I don't know what caused the break." (Staff photo-Leslie Williams)

Supervisors approve county appointments

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Approximately 44 public employees to serve under 11 divisions of Hancock County government have been recommended and approved for 1979.

The county agencies include Office of Tax Assessor and Collector, Sheriff's Department, Radio Operators, Sanitary Land Fill, County Home, Civil Defense, Soil Conservation, Assistant Ranger, Veterans Service, General County and Revenue Sharing Administrative.

The system of appointing public employees usually begins with the head of each department making a recommendation, followed by approval from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, said Beat Two Supervisor Alton Kellar.

Hancock County Youth Court Administrator Michael Haas described the yearly appointments as a misnomer.

"My employees are not exactly appointed every year by the Board of Supervisors, it's more like at the pleasure of the court," said Haas.

"I don't think of my employees as being appointed every year—I think of them as being employed until they can no longer satisfactorily perform their job, or until they leave," he explained.

Other department heads also felt that the Supervisor's approval is just an annual formality.

In the department of Office of Tax Assessor and Collector the following deputies were approved for 1979: Yvonne Ladner, Edith Ruhr; Cynthia Ladner, Evelyn Turcotte, Dorothy Wadman, Sheila Favre, Sheila Landry, Sarah Lush and Lucille Wilkerson.

In the Sheriff's Department the following deputies were approved: Fairley Neacase, Ronald Peterson, Paul Bernard, Ronald Ferrell, Delbert Seay, Dennis Tartavouille, Willie Lee, A. J. Cuevas and Ronald Cuevas.

Radio operators approved were William Little, Sr. Melva Neacase, Mary Biehl, Charles Johns, Walton Ladner and Lillian Roberts.

J. W. Page was approved as jailer. In the Sanitary Land Fill Department, Carl Ladner and Joseph Perkins were approved.

County Home employees approved were Mary Fricke and Nathan Ladner. Civil Defense appointments were Robert Boudin and Dorothy Bielstein. Youth Court employees approved were Mike Haas, Charles Carter and Paulette Rutherford.

Patricia Jourdan was approved in the department of Soil Conservation.

Lesli Dedeaux was approved as assistant ranger.

In the Veterans Service Department, John Wilkerson, and Troy Smith were approved.

General county appointments approved were James Pfeiffer, James Ruhr and Robert Summers.

Elsie Kenny was approved in the Revenue Sharing Administrative Department.

Walter J. Gex III was approved as board attorney; James Trivica as board of supervisors vice president; and Alton (Dolph) Kellar as board president for 1979.

Hamilton to terminate school board 'career'

By RICH ADAMS

Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Trustee Robert Hamilton will not seek reappointment in March to that post, which he has held since 1959, according to Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett.

Bennett said Monday he was informed that Hamilton does not desire reappointment to the board slot for another term, and asked the mayor not to consider his name for reappointment to that position.

"Mr. Hamilton asked me not to even consider his name," the mayor said Monday.

Bennett said he has received two lists with a total of eight names as recommendations for the vacancy from citizens in the school district.

The decision of a replacement for Hamilton will go before the Bay City Council at a meeting Feb. 20, with the new trustee's term to begin March 3.

"Mr. Hamilton's performance speaks for itself," the mayor said. "He had to do a tremendous job to remain on the board 20 years through three administrations."

"Twenty years is long enough," Hamilton said Tuesday.

"I would not have stayed that long if I had not felt an obligation to my community, which everyone should feel," he added.

Bay School Superintendent J. D. McCulloch declined to comment on the mayor's announcement that Hamilton will not seek reappointment.

Another board member to represent the school district area outside the City of Bay St. Louis will be elected when voters from that area take to the polls between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday, March 3 at Bay Senior High School.

The election will fill a remaining one-year portion of the term of Jean Townsend who relocated to Washington State in August.

Dr. John Levens was appointed to fill Ms. Townsend's slot on the school board until it could be filled through the March election.

Another election will be conducted in 1980 to fill the position for a full five-year term.

Candidates who have qualified for the position are Linda Penrose and Betty T. Diboll, both of Waveland.

which Governor Cliff Finch had committed to the airport," explains Commission Director Wilson Wehre. "ADI will be paid $8,100 or three percent of the grant money for compiling the application. ADI's payment is dependent upon attainment of the grant," said Wehre.

Ainsworth insists, "The Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District (SMPDD) a federal agency, will prepare the application for free."

"I do not understand why the Commission would pay for something they could get for free—it's foolish," Ainsworth commented.

Wehre says, "We never knew the Southern District would prepare the total report—which is extremely voluminous—we are aware the district prepares pre-applications which are about three pages."

"Just because somebody says something is free doesn't mean it is so," continued Wehre, "this application package has engineering specifications, plans and other technical matter, and I did not think the SMPDD would render these types of services."

The Port and Harbor Commission Application has been rejected twice thus far for "errors in the application," said Ainsworth.

"The first grant application was received by the EDA July 14, 1978 and was rapidly sent back for review July 25, 1978. The application came back to the EDA again Nov. 11, 1978 and was returned again to the Port Commission Dec. 12 1978 due to errors," elaborated Ainsworth.

Ainsworth termed as 'absurd' rumors the EDA, located in Jackson, is trying to prevent the Commission's application from being approved. "That is absurd," exclaims Ainsworth, "It put's a rose in my cap to get any project approved."

The application was sent back Dec. 12 1978 to the commission with 14 errors to be corrected.

Ainsworth said the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District is well versed in handling applications for grants, adding, "They are familiar with EDA requirements in grant applications."

"The 14 errors are relatively minor," says Ainsworth.

One of the errors in the Commission's last application is the placing of an Affirmative Action Plan in the application that was not in EDA format. The Commission presented Hancock County's Affirmative Action program in the application instead.

Another error is submission of an engineering fee in the application at a percentage of the cost rather than a fixed engineers fee as EDA requires, Ainsworth stated.

"We have a very simple Affirmative Action outline," says Ainsworth, "which is the EDA format. We do not want a copy of the county's plan. We want an Affirmative Action Plan in the application submitted in the EDA format—that's all."

"And in regard to the engineers fee," he continued, "the fee should be a fixed fee and not a percentage of the project."

members and the superintendent in a single county school administration should be elected, not appointed.

"I intend to work for school board members to be elected rather than appointed if the school systems join or not," Bennett stressed.

Ward Two Councilman James Thrifflay is also strongly in favor of consolidation.

"One school system would result in more efficient collection and spending of county tax dollars," said Thrifflay.

Presently, Waveland residents are paying county taxes, Waveland City taxes and Bay St. Louis school taxes. Bay St. Louis property owners are also paying county, city and school taxes, explained the councilman.

"Under consolidation," intoned Thrifflay, "the county would collect all school taxes."

"Four residents in Waveland are delinquent in paying their school taxes—not on purpose, it's just because they don't know they have to pay school taxes in Bay St. Louis," said Thrifflay.

"Consolidation would rid Bay St. Louis of the nuisance of collecting Waveland school taxes," Thrifflay added.

"I also think the Bay St. Louis public is in favor of consolidation," he concluded.

Waveland Mayor John Long Jr. said, "I think education is priority number one in the county."

"Both school systems are suffering, I think the Waveland Board should get together with school officials and do what is best for education in the county."

Another proposal speculated for alleviating overcrowding in the county school district is for Waveland to withdraw from the Bay School System and then join the county school system.

County Board of Supervisors Attorney Walter Gex said Waveland would first have to get approval from Mississippi Superintendent of Education followed probably by a Waveland election on the proposal.

Waveland Alderman Barbara Rappold said, "that wouldn't work among other things it could cause hard feeling between Bay St. Louis and Waveland which are presently very good."

Leader of the opposition forces in Saturday's election, Beat Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson, maintains he will only support school system improvements which "I can see benefit the whole county."

"I don't like that word consolidation," Peterson reported Wednesday. "We would like to think more in terms of abolishing the two existing districts and maybe developing one entirely new, all-elected school board and superintendent," Peterson added.

He also noted he is not in favor of moving too fast on the proposals which are being offered.

"Let's let this thing settle down a little before we get too hasty," Peterson said.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has been conducting a consolidation poll to determine how many county residents are in favor of combining the school districts.

The results of the poll will be released to the Chamber of Commerce Education Committee after Feb. 9.

Fire hazard recall issued on fly trap

Pestolite, Inc., Lancaster, Pa., in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) has announced a voluntary recall of 1,000 commercial fly control devices, model SK-4, because of a possible fire hazard.

The products are used to keep flying insects under control in or around residences, restaurants, stores, hotels, plants and recreational areas. They were produced from March 1976 through August 1978, and sold nationwide.

If too many dead insects accumulate and block the centrifugal fan, the unit may overheat and create a fire hazard. The device has been linked to 25 fires since 1976.

To identify the product, look for the "Pestolite" name on the black upper housing of the unit.

Devices not specifically exhibiting the raised "Pestolite" name on the upper housing are not being recalled, nor are units manufactured, reworked, inspected or repaired by Pestolite, Inc., after

December, 1977 which have affixed a red imprinted white label stating, "CAUTION: Continued operation with clogged fan will render unit inoperative."

Consumers who need to verify the model number should call CPSC's Toll-Free Hotline at 800-638-6326.

Highlights of Governor Finch's State of The State Address

Governor Cliff Finch has made the following major proposals for the 1979 session of the Mississippi Legislature:

INCOME TAX - His first recommendation is to return to the taxpayers who have paid personal income tax a refund of up to $110. This will give a much needed tax relief to our big and middle income Mississippians who need it the most.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE - The Governor's second recommendation was that the Legislature pass a conflict of interest bill to prohibit any public official from taking advantage of his or her office and to show us that our government is not being used for personal gain.

SUNSET - He has urged the Legislature to adopt a stronger and more forceful sunset law that will really do some good in cutting waste and eliminating unnecessary state agencies - a law that will include those agencies that are our big spenders, not just a small percentage of agencies who use very little of our state's money.

HIGHWAYS - He renewed his recommendation that the necessary steps be taken to complete the Highway Bond Refunding Program started last year. The Legislature passed the first part of the program providing a savings to the taxpayers of approximately $140 million over the 29-year life of the bond issue; however, they did not enact the second half providing the means of financing the new roads without new taxes, which is the part that would actually build our roads. We badly need a new highway program and the money provided through this action, along with the annual revenues designated for highways, would give us up to $150,000,000 a year for this program.

EDUCATION - As the first step toward improvement of our state's educational system, the Governor has reiterated his request of three years ago for the creation of a Lay Board of Education in Mississippi to provide a more effective mode of leadership and guidance for our children. We, the parents and educators, should be the ones to make the decisions on how our schools are to be run, not the county.

SUCCESSION - The Governor has asked the Legislature once again to let us, the people of Mississippi, decide whether or not we want gubernatorial succession. It should be our right to vote on whether or not we would like our governor to have the opportunity of seeking re-election for a second term. Considering the fact that 45 other states have gubernatorial succession, it must be generally considered beneficial to the operation of state government.

This announcement has been paid for by citizens of this county who believe the above proposals deserve the support of the people of Mississippi.

Mrs. Claudia Singleton of Lake Shore has been named to head the April 1, 1979, "Wheels for Life" bike-a-thon for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Lakeshore, Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"We are proud to find such a dedicated person for this important task. St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital

St. Jude's is the only research center dedicated exclusively to the study and conquest of catastrophic diseases of children. Its work, particularly in leukemia and other childhood cancers, has been internationally acclaimed and cited as a leading example for basic and clinical research.

City-County Library features outstanding shell collection

By JOE PILET
The 'Shells of the World' Collection on display at the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis currently rates the title "Greatest Free Show in Hancock County."

These shells, selected for beauty, size, rarity, color and usefulness will remain on exhibit through February.

Source of this display is the private collection of Fabian E. Buquoi, whose home display cases are filled with hundreds of specimen shells collected over a period of nearly three decades.

Until recently, Buquoi was buyer-seller, manager and owner of a local shell shop on US-90.

His interest in shells started in 1953 while he was in the United States Coast Guard. Ships, seas, and sandy shores were his classrooms and he reveled in the romance of shells and the strange sea creatures which carry those skeletons on the outside of their bodies.

As his interest, knowledge and experiences grew, he graduated from a mere "shell collector" to a scientific conchologist, properly and labeling his specimens.

Buquoi joined International Oceanographic Foundation in 1964, an organization whose purpose is to encourage scientific study and exploration of the oceans in all their aspects.

Buquoi's enthusiasm is contagious. He welcomes questions and talks with ease about this fascinating study. His sensitive fingers explore highly polished and lustrous surfaces, while with a trained and practiced eye, he points out a certain shell which is prized for its color, perfection, oddity, or shape.

Sizes and varieties of shells seem endless. There are smooth-surfaced shells from the Indian and South West Pacific Oceans; thorny or spiny shells such as the Regal Murex from Mexico and Panama; and spade shaped mussels from the waters of the North Atlantic Ocean in the collection.

The Syrinx Aureanus, one of the largest shells in the world and found in Australia, is on display. It is lustrous, delicately shaded, graceful in shape and about 30 inches long.

Of special interest in this collection is the famous Chambered Nautilus, probably the shell most talked about, written about, and mysterious to man through the centuries.

For those interested in shell collections, and to assist students, Buquoi will be in the library, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from noon until 2 p.m. Buquoi and his collection present an opportunity for teachers to plan field trips for their students.

Groups wishing to visit the library should make appointments in advance by calling 467-5282.

Sea shell books await at Library

By JOE PILET
The Shells of the World Display now featured in the Bay St. Louis City-County Library has stimulated interest in learning more about shells.

A number of books on the subject on various age and reading levels can also be found at the Library.

Suggested for adults and students in higher grades is "A Field Guide to the Shells" by Roger Tory Peterson. The book has more than 400 illustrations - many in full color.

"Shells and Shell Collecting" by S. Peter Dance is also a good guide revealing the diversity and fascination of shells.

The work is conveniently indexed and beautifully illustrated.

Color Treasury of Sea Shells" has a most helpful glossary.

Species are identified by Latin names and the color photography is excellent.

For the young reader we recommend "The True Book of Pebbles and Shells" by Illa Podendorf.

The author is a teacher of science to children at Laboratory School, University of Chicago. Print is large. Vocabulary easy.

"Starting a Shell Collection" by Miriam Gilbert gets right down to equipment needed and how to go about developing this hobby - would satisfy needs of junior high and high school students.

"Shells Are Where You Find Them" by Elizabeth Clemons is an easy-to-use book and a simple handbook for boys and girls who want to know about shells found on beaches of North America.

"Seashell Towns" by Peter Sauer is a work by an author who has taught children and the book shows it.

Mark A. Binn's illustrations are very special. Third and fourth graders should appreciate this book.

Will the war between North and South ever end?

The results of the bond issue election last Saturday for improvement of educational facilities of Hancock County seem to reflect a continuance of the Civil War.

It was a battle between the North and South residents, the North against school improvements and the South for school improvements.

So what happens, the children, the leaders of tomorrow, suffer a little longer. The amazing thing though, is the fact that both the children of the North as well as the South will suffer.

The children in school in the North will be overcrowded and the children from the South will continue to be bused about 60 miles round trip a day.

When we try to seek reasons for the North being against the bond issue, it baffles us, because anyone with an ounce of intelligence should want to improve the educational conditions of their children.

The only probable answer we seem to be able to muster after talking to several Northern residents is possibly, 'lack of trust' in school officials.

We do not know this for sure, but, there must be some valid reason for such an overwhelming majority in the North against the improvements of their own school facilities.

No matter where you look today in the United States, there are problems in school systems. Lack of monies to operate, lack of facilities to teach, parents after the administrations for this or that.

Hancock County is no different from any other section of our nation.

We undoubtedly have problems in our school systems in Hancock County. The only way to solve these problems for the best interests of all, we feel, will be for the school administrations, political leaders, business leaders and parents of our children all unite and get to some very serious discussions on exactly what the problems are.

The first thing to be recognized, of course, is whether we have a problem, and I think all will agree problems do exist.

Together, we contend, all school problems can be worked out. Solutions may not all be exactly what everyone wants, but things could be a lot better.

We still contend our children should be the number one priority. We should do whatever we can to better their education.

ISN'T IT A SHAME - Water, water everywhere, yet not a decent ramp for boat launching in Bay St. Louis in the winter time. With the low tide Sunday, Pete Richardson was trying to launch his skiff at the head of Washington Street, and had to summon a wrecker to pull him out after he had to back too far down the ramp. We wonder when the people of Bay St. Louis are going to get tired of handfull of 'partial residents' telling them what they can or cannot do. It is time for the majority to rule, not the minority. What happened to the Gun and Rod Club?

Heritage III editor seeks family photos

Plans are now underway for Heritage Edition III of the Sea Coast Echo and your help is needed.

We expect to carry photographs and articles about Hancock County's first families, where they came from and how they happened to settle in this area.

If you are a relative of an early settler, please trust us with your treasured old photographs.

They will be handled carefully and returned to you after publication.

Heritage III will also record early business enterprises, school and church activities, civic and social clubs formed, amusing incidents, old homes and business establishments. We'd like to even include the family's pet when the story warrants recognition.

Please help us make the Heritage III a record to enjoy, to read, to preserve for posterity.

As Heritage Editor, I work from my home office at 520 Highland Drive in Bay St. Louis and my telephone number is 467-5551.

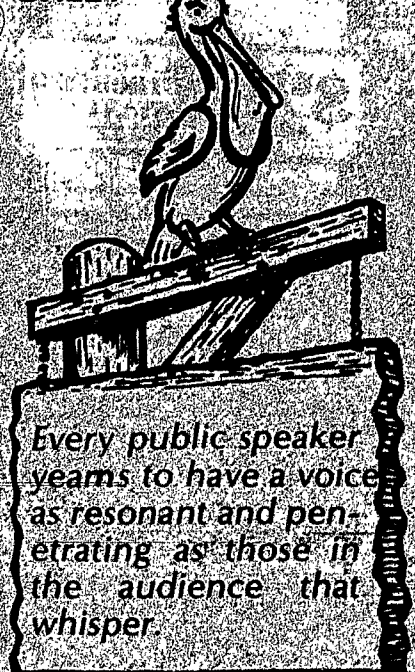

Heritage III is intended as a record of Hancock County and written by the people of Hancock County under their by-lines.

My mission is to collect and edit the information you submit and I am grateful to you for your unflinching help.

Sea Coast Echo
To the Editor

Dear Sir:

The registered voters of Waveland and outlying areas of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District will have the opportunity to exercise their constitutional right to vote on March 3 for a School Board trustee.

The people of Bay St. Louis are not as fortunate, since we are not allowed the opportunity to vote for the person of our choice on this board.

Our new trustee will be appointed on the recommendation of the Mayor with the approval of the City Council.

The Mayor's recommendation should not be influenced by campaign debts, political favors, or present administration pressures in choosing "their own," etc.

It's time for a change. The taxpayers are tired of foolish spending. From the present condition of our schools, it appears to us that our board may be more concerned with the prestige of the position rather than the work to be done.

The next choice must be a person who is honest, sincerely interested, scrupulous, communicative, and intelligent. To put it very bluntly, someone with brains and a conscience to go with them.

Our newly elected trustee from Waveland and the outlying areas of the school district will be a new face.

The people of Bay St. Louis should be able to expect and should demand that their appointed trustee be a 'new face' also.

For the past 20 years the faces on the board have changed somewhat, but the attitudes have remained the same. To have a repeat of one bearing those same attitudes at present or one who has been would be taking a step backward.

Our present and our past boards have deemed it unimportant to be accountable to their public.

Therefore, our feelings are very strong on this matter because it is time for our public boards to do just that: become accountable to their public.

Accountability is a term widely used now regarding taxpayers' money. It applies in Bay St. Louis as well as anywhere else.

But we, the complacent public, are partly responsible for this lack of accountability.

Inflation, which has partially been caused by foolish spending of our tax dollars on all levels (local, state, and federal) has made us aware that complacency must be a thing of the past.

Interested, efficient, and capable trustees will mean better management of our tax dollars that are used for the education of our children. And our children deserve the best because well education children guarantee a bright future for our community.

Moving toward capitulation

Dear Sir:

Communism is everywhere on the move while the U.S. either assists as a silent partner or stands transfixed. Lenin postulated the weakness of the capitalist industrial nations in their dependence upon the third world for raw materials.

Through Detente, the U.S. has elevated the Soviets to the status of a superpower, upgraded its war machine with advanced technology, made possible the development of an expensive navy, an aggressive merchant marine and a burgeoning airline, now available to strengthen and sustain Soviet expansion and domination.

The Soviets can generate an economic crises for the West with increased political and military pressure. The Russian colossus is no longer landlocked. The Kremlin has a four-ocean navy and wider options in the Mediterranean, the Atlantic and the Pacific, the Indian Ocean and in the Caribbean.

Soviet geopolitics are greatly strengthened. Their opportunistic expansionism, their thirst for land-grabbing are being augmented. The can control the oil lifeline to Japan and the West, encircle China from the Pacific and Indian Oceans, seal off the mineral wealth of South Africa.

Warsaw Pact Weaponry has been greatly increased and potential for surprise attack has been greatly strengthened.

With five times the tanks and artillery of NATO, they have the capability to overrun Europe in a modern blitzkrieg.

There is increasing political, diplomatic and economic penetration of neighboring countries. Increased military power is providing the impetus for further domination.

Examples of Soviet worldwide ambition in penetration and exploitation are evidenced in Iran and Nicaragua.

The Soviets broadcast to Iran instructions on how to organize demonstrations, descriptions of riots, lessons in manufacture of grenades and gasoline bombs.

Communists are covertly assisting in the attempt to unseat President Somoza in Nicaragua. International brigades armed with sophisticated weapons such as the 7.62 Belgian machine gun, obtained only by established governments, have been left by fleeing guerrillas.

Existence of Soviet MIG-23 jets in Cuba are denied as a "threat" by Carter, but retired Lieutenant General Daniel Graham states the MIG's have nuclear capability in all configurations, are a threat and are in violation of the 1962 understanding of offensive weapons.

Despite the foregoing evidence of growing Soviet might and expanding influence, political, economic and military, secretaries Kreps and Blumer had indicate President Carter wants to further expand trade with the Soviet Union.

Proposed joint projects include: a $250 million cold rolling steel mill, an oil prospecting plan and sale of heavy machinery.

Some 28 such projects are identified to exemplify the kind of long-term undertaking to expand trade.

U.S. Steel indicates pending plans to build a billion-dollar iron-ore processing complex for the Red Chinese.

Bethlehem Steel has signed an agreement to provide $100 million worth of ore-processing plants for the Red Chinese.

While the World Socialists: Communists openly plan our destruction, we provide them the tools to accomplish that objective. A change in Administration in 1980 could abruptly terminate these open-handed genocidal tendencies, resulting in a rather violent Chinese-Soviet reaction!

Parent seeks county unity

January 30, 1979

Sea Coast Echo
Editor

To the people of the northern part of the County who were opposed to the Bond Issue:

Since the bond issue has failed because of the north and not being in favor, I think it is high time we have a meeting of the minds between the northern and the southern areas of the county.

1. Let's decide what it is that the northern end does not approve of and also what the southern end is in favor of.

2. Let's decide what kind of bond issue the northern end and the southern end can live with.

3. Let's decide what would be beneficial for all concerned and if presented would be voted favorably by just about everyone.

The southern area needs a high school. If you are against it we would like to know why.

I have never thought that bickering and quarrelling about anything solved a problem.

Let's get together on this because if we don't we are going to end up consolidated whether we want to or not.

If this happens I think we will all be cutting off our own noses to spite our faces.

We will be glad to meet with you at any time you suggest.

Dear Sir:

We, the concerned citizens, are responding to news released Jan. 18 on inquiries made into the gas prices at the federal energy regulatory commission level.

Their response was indeed in a language that all could understand (no technicalities).

Our observation is it doesn't say one thing in the interest of our poor people.

What will you, our officials, do about us?

We, the 1,055 citizens who petition you on reasons for higher gas prices would like positive action.

Hancock humane facility needed

Dear Editor:

Would you kindly publish this letter for public information in re: The constant dropping off of kittens and puppies, some are grown animals.

They are usually dropped off by or near the homes and in yards of Senior Citizens who are already over burdened with pets of their own and are unable to care for them, either financially or physically.

These unwanted animals are dropped off by local priests' homes and the church yards too.

We of the Bay Waveland Humane Society are filled to capacity in our homes with many animals, and well past the point of human endurance in feeding, housing and caring with medical and vets bills for these helpless animals.

When we try to explain our problems to the people who call us to take these animals in to our homes, some are inclined to act hostile with verbal abuse and berate our Humane Society.

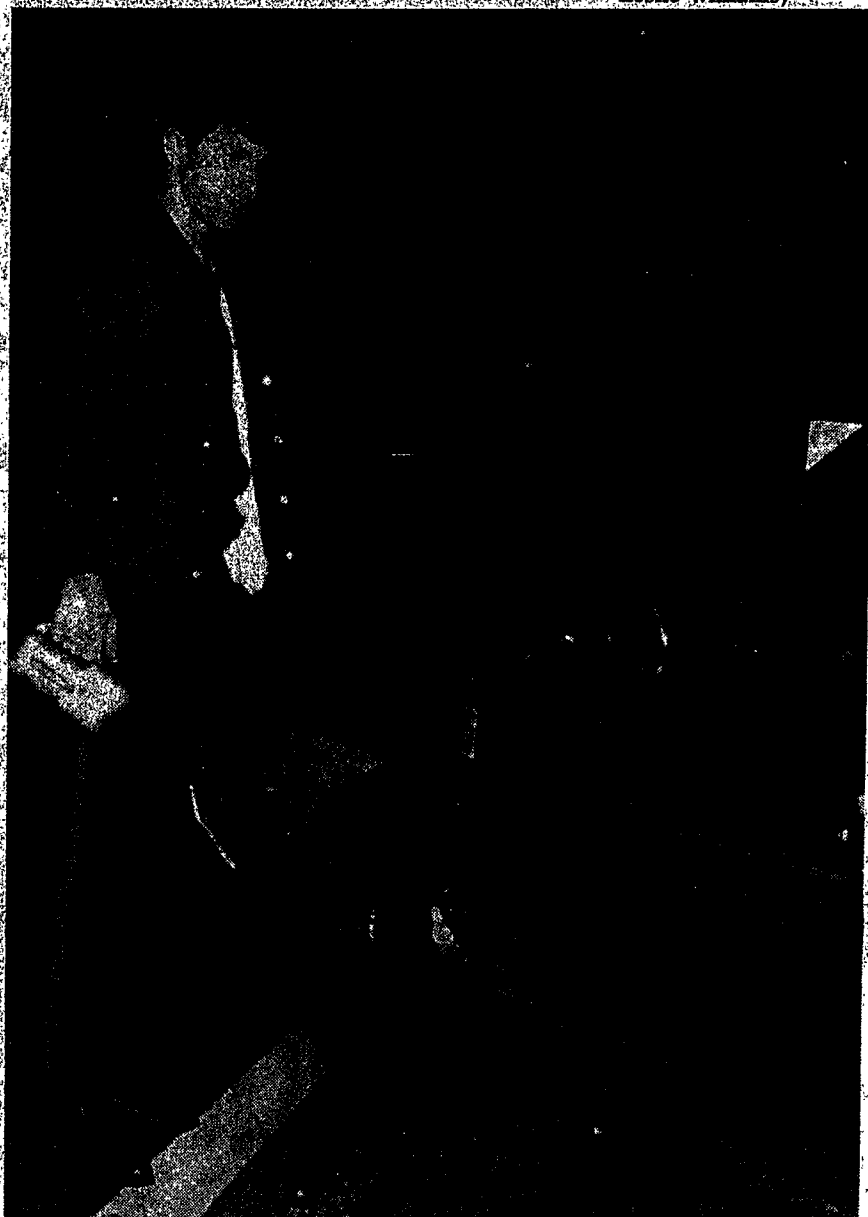

Such tactics are most unfair and unkind.

So, for those people who fail to understand, we wish to plead with them to carry these unfortunate creatures over to the Harrison County Animal Facility in Gulfport, pay the small fee, and ask God to have mercy on the souls of those in power who really are responsible for this most cruel situation.

Thank You,

State jobless rate increases

The state's jobless rate rose two-tenths percent in December to 6.6 percent, reports Edgar C. Lloyd, Jr., executive director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

Estimates by the MESC show 908,700 people were working while 64,300 were unemployed out of a civilian labor force of 971,000. The 6.6 percent state average was above the national rate of 5.8.

The three counties having the highest unemployment rate are Sharkey with 17.8; Quitman with 17.0; and Attala with 14.3 percent.

Counties having the lowest unemployment were Lafayette and Rankin with 3.2 each and Pontotoc with 3.5 percent.

The unemployment rate for December edged upward for the first time since July when the rate stood at 6.2 percent of the Civilian Labor Force.

This is not an unusual occurrence. In five of the last nine years the rate has increased in December over November. The rate remained the same in the other four years.

Elizabeth Holmes selected to attend Wyoming camp

Elizabeth Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, of Bay St. Louis, has been selected by the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council to attend the Girl Scout Opportunity at National Center West in Wyoming this summer.

About 25 girls from this Council will leave by bus June 13 to spend seven days at the National Center West. This 6,000 mile trip will take 23 days with side trips to Mesa Verde, Grand Canyon, Zion, Bryce, Salt Lake City, Grant Teton, Yellowstone and Denver.

National Center West is one of three National Centers owned and operated by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., and the only one west of Mississippi.

It is a place where girls and adults of different backgrounds from all across the U.S.A. and many foreign countries camp together in a primitive setting, learn about the vastness of the West, study its heritage and experience the beauty of unspoiled nature.

Elizabeth is a member of Senior Scout Troop 3 in Waveland under the leadership of Mrs. Ethel Schott. She has attended other opportunities in Madison, Wisconsin and Louisiana Langlappi in New Orleans.

She is the past treasurer of the Cadette Springboard and worked as a program aide during Junior Weekends at Camp Jit Kana and Camp Buccaneer Day Camp.

Ms. Holmes will graduate in June from St. Catherine's in Richmond, Virginia.

She served as patrol leader and treasurer of her class. Her hobbies are macrame, swimming, horticulture, sailing, camping and sewing. She will attend Mississippi Southern in the fall.

Representatives at the annual meeting received reports on 1978 and reviewed plans for 1979 in 31 neighborhoods of the 15 county area.

neighborhood chairmen, council professional staff and alternates reported on activities during the past year and viewed a series of charts prepared for the event on membership, special events, the annual cookie sale, the annual mall event and the new Girl Scout emblem.

Camp Committee Chairman Alice Holmes gave a slide presentation on Camp Itasca Kana and reported on camp programs for 1978.

The summer camping program for 1979 was successful, Mrs. Holmes said.

All special interest units will participate in free swimming and other camp activities when not busy in their special areas, Mrs. Holmes stated.

PRC cagers 'look good' near season end

Pearl River College's basketball Wildcats are almost in the fourth quarter, so to speak, of their season and things are looking "pretty good."

Sporting a 9-7 record, the freshman laden Cats are beginning to come into their own and that's just the way first year head coach Billy Holmes likes it.

"We're still healthy and ready to go," Holmes said, "and to be quite honest, I'm pleased with the performance of the club."

PRC began the year competitive and now as the players get more experience the outlook for the remainder of the season is even better.

"We are a unit," Holmes said, "and that's what I like. In any given game the Cats will field 10 or more players."

"You can tell by the fact that we have five players in double figures, but no one individual is running away with the scoring title," Holmes added.

Holmes said sophomore Tim Green has really improved as the playmaker of the club and his shooting is really helping the team.

Terrell Landry is doing a good job on the boards and his scoring is also improving. Eric Rogers' offensive efforts is giving the Cats a real boost.

"I'm proud of everyone," Holmes said, "and as long as we work as a unit, we'll do OK."

The Mississippi Junior College South Division Tournament is set for Feb. 12-14 here in the Pearl River Coliseum.

PRC schedules 5 home football games

J.C. Arban, athletic director and head football coach at Pearl River Junior College has released a 10-game schedule for his Wildcats in 1979.

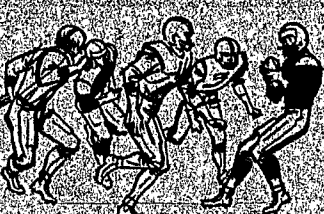

Half of the entire schedule will be played in the month of September, beginning with a road game Saturday, Sept. 1 against Northeast at Booneville.

The following Saturday, Sept. 8, the Wildcats open at home against south division Hinds and the next week Holmes will be visiting the PRC team.

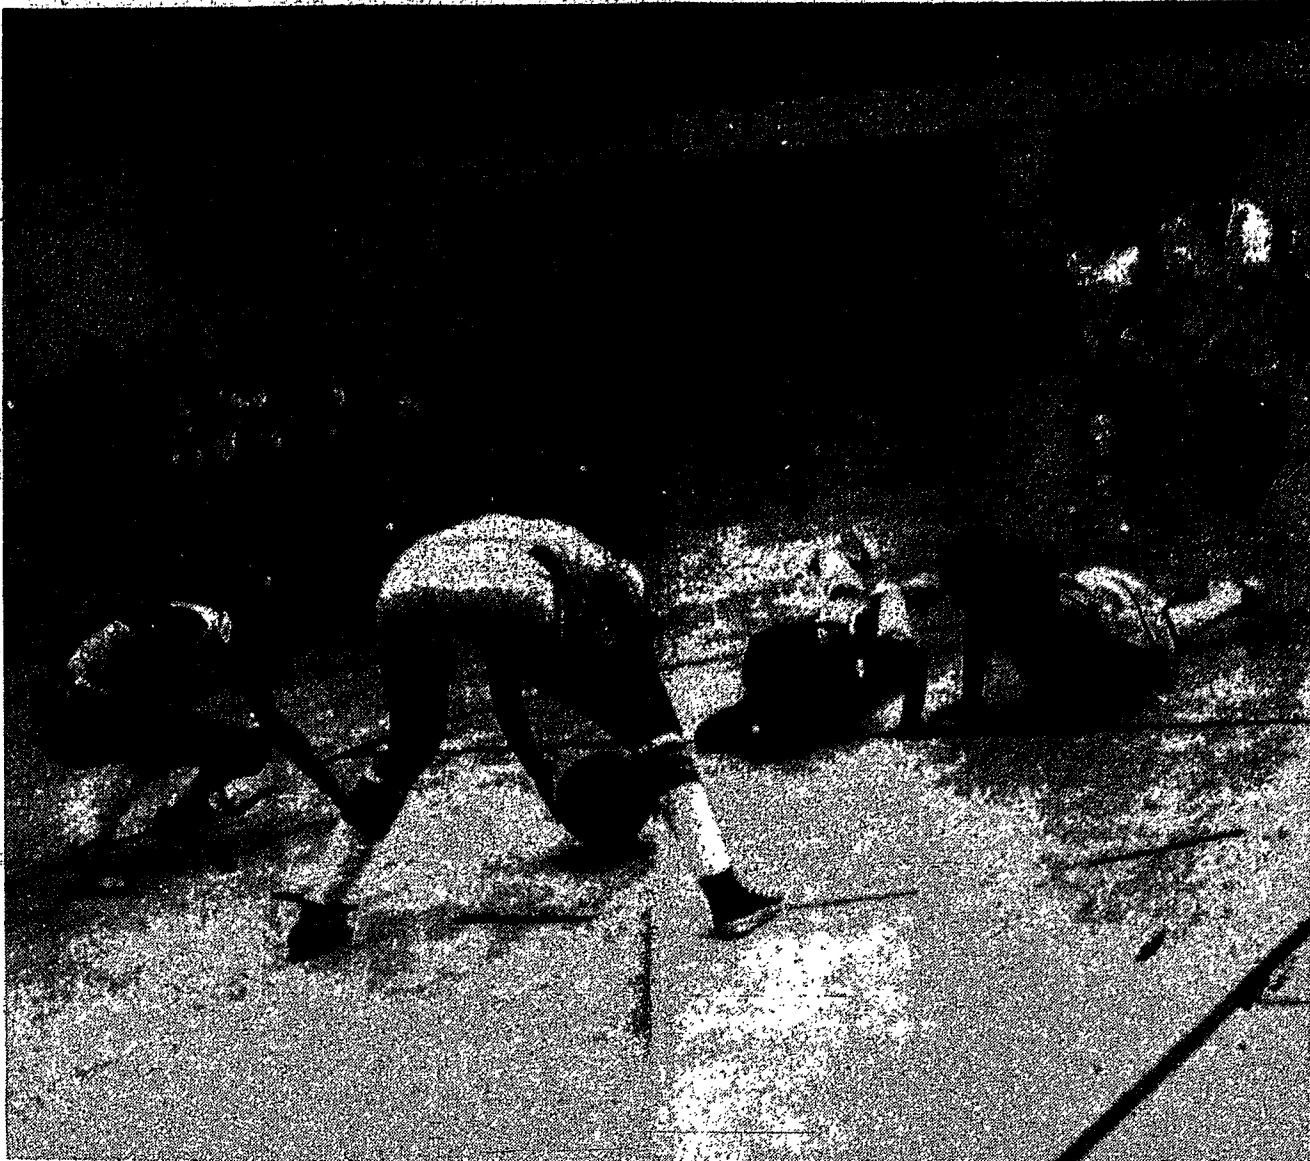

Jones, last year's overall state champs, will entertain the Cats at Ellisville Sept. 22, with Itawamba coming to Poplarville on Saturday, Sept. 29.

Pearl River will meet arch-rival Gulf Coast Saturday Oct. 6, either in Biloxi or in Gulfport. The very next week PRC will travel to Decatur to tangle with the East Central Warriors.

Homecoming 1979 is scheduled Oct. 20 against Copiah-Lincoln. Saturday, Oct. 27, the Southwest Bears will be in Double Holden Stadium to close out the Wildcats home ledger. The final game of the season is against Delta at Moorhead. All games start at 7:30 p.m. except Homecoming which begins at 6 p.m.

BAY ST. LOUIS LITTLE LEAGUE

The Bay St. Louis Little League will hold a meeting tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant on US-90 to discuss election of officers for the 1979 baseball season. All managers, coaches, and interested parties are urged to attend.

MSU to meet

pro team in '79

baseball season

For the first time in modern baseball history, Mississippi State will play an exhibition game against a professional team during the 1979 campaign.

In this case, the opponent will be the Jackson Mets at Smith-Willis Stadium in Jackson on Monday, Apr. 9, at 7:30 p.m., and the Mets will open their Texas League season two days later.

The battle will be the first between the Bulldogs and a pro outfit since 1933 when MSU split a two-game series with the Nashville Vols of the Southern League.

Head Coach Ron Polk of MSU is especially elated about the news after an approved and expanded 55-game '79 schedule.

"We're pleased to have the opportunity to play the Jackson Mets' professional baseball team," said Polk. "We understand that it's the first time in several years that Mississippi State has scheduled an exhibition game of this sort."

"Unfortunately for us, we have a Southeastern Conference series of three games against LSU just prior to the game with the Mets," he added. "I don't think we will be able to throw our very best pitchers."

"We hope to make it a close game, though," he stated. "I know that the Mets will be saving their best people to pitch in the opener the next day, so it should be interesting."

"I know also that with the success the Mets enjoyed last year (first place in the Eastern Division and runner-up in the Texas League playoffs) that there should be a tremendous crowd on hand for the game," Polk noted.

"Both teams have drawn well in Jackson," he continued, "and we are both looking forward to competing against each other. It gives our players a chance to see how they would fare in a Class AA baseball atmosphere."

Tickets are on sale at both Smith-Willis Stadium and the MSU Baseball Ticket Office in Humphrey Coliseum here. Smith-Willis seats approximately 5,000 fans.

Unification try on at Bay High

By EDGAR PEREZ

The prevailing theme running through politics as well as cocktail party conversations lately is one of 'unity' among the people of this area, and Bay High's new head football coach has adopted that same theme to guide his approach to monumental problems he has inherited.

James (Snuffy) Smith, the 25-year-old junior high physical education teacher who has succeeded Billy Rhodes in the Bay High 'hot spot,' is concentrating his efforts prior to the opening of spring training on generating enthusiasm for the school's football program.

"It doesn't do us any good to generate spirit among the players if their enthusiasm is not reinforced by their fellow students in the classrooms and halls, or by their teachers and parents as well," Smith lamented.

"We'll start spring training at 3:30 p.m. in the football dressing room on April 23, but Tiger fans.

"There hasn't been that type of unity at Bay High in more than five years, and I feel that lack of enthusiasm among the Bay High community has been the one biggest hurdle our teams have not been able to overcome," Smith declared.

With the job of developing supporter spirit likely to require continuous effort, Smith must sooner than later turn his attention to his second major problem, "an almost total lack of experience" in his prospective team.

"Chuck Benigno, Hewitt Parsons, and Brett Barrett are the only starters we have returning from last year," he said.

"Not counting junior high players, we expect about 13 to return from last year's squad, maybe four of those with a little playing experience," Smith continued.

The first real insight to Bay High's prospects for 1979 will come in a Spring Jamboree composed of Pascagoula in the meantime the big job is to develop an enthusiasm for the program throughout the system."

"That will be the only way we will get a respectable turnout for spring training, and continued support is going to be necessary to keep the players interested," Smith elaborated.

"You just can't expect a player to put out all that extra effort, all those extra hours over and above his regular school work and interests when everybody around him is putting the knock on the program he is working so hard for," the new coach pointed out.

"Under those kinds of conditions, the first time a player is slightly injured, he'll just quit," Smith added.

Smith said he hopes to be able to weld such presently diverse interests as the athletes themselves, the student body, school administration, Boosters Club, and the community at large into a unified group of rabid River Conference teams following the spring practice session which is slated to end May 18.

Smith said plans for the jamboree are still in the development stage.

Smith's first year as head coach at Bay High will mark the beginning of his fourth year in the system.

He served for two years as head coach at Delta State in Cleveland, and previously was named to the all-state and all-star junior college teams while playing linebacker at Pearl River Junior College in 1973.

He is a native of Morgan-town Community in Marion County and a graduate of West Marion High School.

Smith is married to the former Allison Wise of Picayune. They are the parents of one three-year-old daughter, Miranda.

COTTONSEED NO HASSLE

With stepped up plantings of cotton anticipated for 1979, cotton growers around the cotton belt apparently have no big hassle in store in regard to quality or quantity of seed — despite the fact that 1978 fall weather did create problems for seedsmen.

Early opening of cotton last fall as the weather remained hot, plus rain showers during late August and early September, created less than optimum conditions for the best quality of seed, but seedsmen are accustomed to taking such situations in stride.

Last week the question of seed quality was put to two of this state's leading suppliers of cotton planting seed in the light of a report from the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service regarding the weather's effect on planting seed quality. The following is a summary of these reports and interviews.

Dr. Charles C. Baskin, Extension agronomist, reported that the harvest weather conditions had created some instances where germination was in the low to mid-60's or lower.

The Extension specialist reported that where a high percentage of cotton was open and seed were weather-damaged, the vigor of many of the germinable seed is low. It is not uncommon, he said, for late germinating between 65 and 75 percent to have one third or more of the germinable seed to be weak or low vigor seed. As in 1977 the dead and/or deteriorated seed are the mature, large, heavy seed, so it is virtually impossible to remove them in processing.

Dr. Baskin suggested that the variable condition of the seed make it all the more important to have some test made other than the standard germination test. He said some type of vigor test can be made to give an indication of the level of quality. Then, planting rates can be adjusted accordingly. He added that several private and public seed testing laboratories offer one of more vigor tests for cottonseed. The two most widely used at present are the cool or low temperature germination test and the tetragolum test. Either, he said, will give a good estimate of the quality of the seed.

Dr. George Walker, of Stoneville Pedigreed Seed Company, Stoneville, generally agreed with Dr. Baskin's assessment of the situation but said there is confusion in the industry when it comes to ranking results of vigor tests, and although his company utilizes several labs for vigor tests, there apparently is no common standard among them and the results as reported are not a lot of help to a farmer unless someone explains findings from each lab.

The Stoneville seedsmen reported that his company utilizes a certain amount of western produced seed as a guarantee against weather problems in this area. He further reports a good supply of seed of germination standards well above problem levels with germination test findings published on a tag on each sack of seed.

Kenneth McClain, quality controller of Delta and Pine Land Seed Company at Scott, reported that his company too secures a portion of planting seed annually from the West to hedge against occasional quality problems that may occur in the delta.

While he acknowledges a certain degree of problems with cottonseed produced in the delta last fall, he reported that his company does not anticipate serious problems in supplying planting seed this year except for perhaps a specialized variety or two.

Hurricane Hunters busy year 'round

The Hurricane Hunters of Keesler AFB ranged far and wide during January.

At one time the squadron had aircraft and crews as far apart as the Philippine Islands and the eastern shore of the Mediterranean.

The work started on the second day of the month when one crew deployed to McChord AFB, Wash.

Shortly thereafter Guam's Typhoon Chasers issued a call for help and a crew was quickly sent to perform storm reconnaissance on Typhoon Alice as it threatened Kwajalein Atoll, Guam and the Philippines.

Next out were three crews and two aircraft to Germany to support an exercise in Europe by flying fog dispersal missions. The Hurricane Hunters then went to the Middle East to provide the F-15s there with current weather information in the Mediterranean.

Next, as replacing the F-15s at HAF Bentwaters, England, required clear calm weather for their enroute refuelings. Another crew launched ahead of the new fighters to find it for them.

For most of the month, six of the squadron's eight aircraft have been away from Keesler with the other two assuming the unit's local area responsibilities.

The squadron is scheduled to perform operations at McChord AFB February.

THE ONLY INVESTMENT GUIDE YOU'LL EVER NEED by Andrew Tobias, a contributing editor on investments for Esquire, will be released by Bantam Feb. 1.

The work is not a complicated text for the big money investor, but rather a down-to-earth, informative and often funny guide for ordinary people.

Tobias' book can help consumers fight the crippling effects of inflation, save them hundreds or even thousands of dollars in cash each year, and prevent them from even greater losses through dangerous investment schemes.

The Bantam edition has been updated by the author to reflect new changes in tax laws.

In THE ONLY INVESTMENT GUIDE YOU'LL EVER NEED, Tobias gives such money-saving suggestions as:

- How to find out what tax bracket you are in (it's probably even higher than you think)
- Why you should not buy ordinary life insurance
- Why even a struggling college student should try to put $750 into a Keogh Plan even if he has to borrow to do it
- How to earn 30 percent to 40 percent on everything from mouthwash to tuna fish
- How to save up to 75 percent on brokerage commissions
- How to knock $50 off the price of your next car - Why the commodities game, options and "special offerings" are mercilessly sacked against you from the start

What 25 things you might not have thought of that could be tax-deductible (including this book!)

Andrew Tobias is the author of The Funny Money Game and the best-selling biography of Charles Revson, Fire and Ice.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Larosa had as Sunday guests her daughter Mrs. Leboria Sager

Forbes called Tobias "one of the financial community's most plitely perceptive observers."

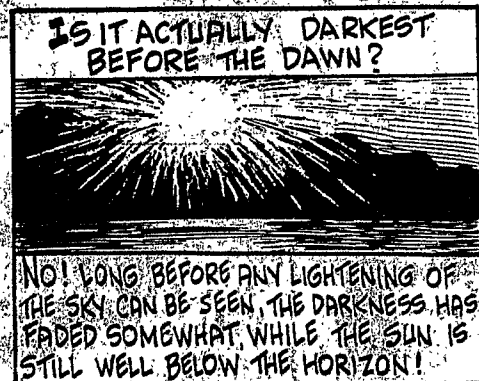

Before coming to Esquire, Tobias was a financial writer for five years for New York Magazine.

A graduate of Harvard College and Business School, Tobias has also been published in Playboy, Cosmopolitan, Fortune and Barron's.

The Ole Pastor Says

The Bible speaks of the danger of discouragement. Both the Old as well as the New Testament warns how discouragement can be one of our most dangerous and disastrous enemies.

It is when discouraged we often fall prey to despondency, despair and failure. It is, definitely one of life's most dangerous enemies. When you are discouraged, you should be very careful! Better yet, be very prayerful! Satan exploits human experience of discouragement.

In our human trials we find discouragement. It was in the midst of such experiences during her wilderness wanderings that the people of Israel became rebellious against God.

"And the soul of the people was much discouraged because of the way. And the people spoke against God, and against Moses..." (Numbers 21:4-5).

After Moses' death, marking the close of forty years wandering in the wilderness, the people of Israel stand somewhat amazed on the east banks of the swollen River Jordan, contemplating the conquest of Canaan.

Being so well acquainted with their human foibles and the danger of discouragement, God admonished Joshua and the people to "be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God IS WITH THEE; whithersoever thou goest" (Joshua 1:19-9).

Unwavering faith in God is the answer to our problems of discouragement! Satan wants to defeat you. He will use discouragement to do it if you permit him to.

I read of a University professor performing the following interesting experiment: He took a glass tank and divided one-third off with a glass partition. He filled both sections with water.

In the small section, he put a minnow. In the large section, he put a bass. When the two fish were first placed in the tank, the bass struck frequently at the minnow, but each time he bumped his nose on the invisible glass. After a few days, he struck less frequently. The large fish continued to pump his nose until he quit striking at all.

In a few weeks, the professor took both fish out and put them into a tank of water that was not divided. The large bass looked wall-eyed at the minnow, but never one time attempted to eat him. Because of his many failures, he had become discouraged and quit. Now when opportunity came, he missed it because he had given up.

(Here is a classical example of the old adage: "A quitter never wins, and a winner never quits." -LSW)

One cannot but wonder if there are not countless numbers of people in eternity without God and without hope who could have been won to Christ; but when the opportunity came to witness, the sole winner had already given up.

If you have earnestly tried hundreds of times and failed, in any good and worthwhile endeavor, don't stop trying. The next time might be the one which makes all our efforts worthwhile. Consider these two favorite passages of scripture:

"And let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. 'As we have' therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Galatians 6:9-10). Don't faint! Don't give up! Don't despair! Don't let discouragement get you down! Have faith in God!

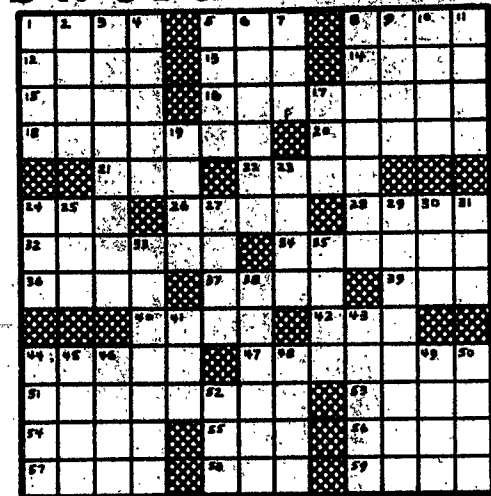

NEW PRESIDENT

The Mississippi State Board of Health's new president and vice-president for 1979 are Benton W. Hilburn of Tupelo succeeding Dr. Moncure Dabney of Crystal Springs and Dr. William O. Cobb of Jackson, respectively. Board members also elected Dr. Marshall Fortenberry, a Jackson dentist, to the Board's executive committee. Other members of the executives committee for 1979 will be the Board's officers: Dr. Hilburn, Dr. Cobb, and State Health Officer Dr. Alton B. Cobb, the Board's secretary.

Happenings

The first big event of the year - our Social Hour with its many game sessions and surprises - was held at our center in Monday, Jan. 15 at 1:30 p.m.

It was a huge success in spite of the coldest weather of the year. Approximately 75 seniors attended this party. The Seniors in Hancock County like all seniors throughout the United States are not the shawl and rocking chair type that stay at home because of inclement weather conditions.

They are a jovial, enthusiastic group of people who participate in all civic affairs whether it be at a social function or volunteering for some organization.

Winners were as follows: Franklin Cain, Eulysse Cain, Carrie Williams, Edith Humphrey, Josephine Seav, Zenobia Gilbert, Aloysius Mareno, Katherine Galivan, Eugenia Benoit, Alfred Roehm, Joe Petta, Lucille Reese, and Lottie Jones. The door prize was won by Julia Leddy.

No event would be successful without the help given by the following merchants who contributed gifts this month: Bay St. Louis: Western Auto Associate, Super Rich Doughnut Shop, Ramsey's Dept. Store, Lorraine Flowers, The Eatery.

Waveland: TG&Y, George's, Linda's Fabrics, and Lil Ray's Restaurant.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
The Seniors who attended the first birthday party of the year at the Center Monday, Jan. 29 and battled the elements were rewarded with 45 minutes of great entertainment.

By popular demand, Captain Arthur Homer, a Keeler Field Air Force Chaplain played a return engagement at our Center.

His presentation of many feats of magic along with his many audience participation tricks, astounded all present, proving once again that the hand is quicker than the eye. Congratulations for a fine performance.

Birthday greetings were extended to Joe Petta, D. Guillemet, Carmelita Saucier, Mae Fortado and Bernadette Benjamin.

Door prize-dinner for two donated by cafe's Wheel Inn Restaurant - was won by Eulysse Cain.

A special thank you to our telephone committee and the servers: Ethel Dorman, Julia Leddy, Thelma White, Eunice Arnold and Audrey Cret.

People's Federal Savings and Loan Association sent the birthday cake.

N.C.S.C.
The National Council of Senior Citizens Club, Inc. Hancock Club held a covered dish dinner at the Center Tuesday, Jan. 16, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The ladies really went all out, cooking their favorite recipes. President Joe Petta said that if anyone went home hungry, shame on them.

There was a variety of dishes that would put some of our finest dining establishments to shame. Congratulations to everyone who helped to make this event so successful.

HERE AND THERE
The flower arranging class will resume activities starting Monday February 5 from 9-11 a.m.

If weather permits outdoor classes will be held in the instruction of natural flower arrangements. Wilmer Miller, well versed in this particular field of endeavor will be the instructor.

The volunteers give thousands of tourists who pass through Hancock County every month valuable information relating to scenic and historical sites to visit. While stopping at our Highway Center, they enjoy refreshments and converse with our volunteers who always extend a helping hand and a friendly smile to all of our visitors.

PEARLINGTON
Irma Cuévas, program director for the senior citizens group in this area, is recuperating at home from a recurring illness. Irma who is quite active in all civic affairs is missed by all of us. We wish you speedy recovery so that you may be able to get back to your normal activities once again.

WAVELAND
The American Association of Retired Persons held its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Jan. 15 at 10 a.m. at the Waveland Civic Center. President Esther Oschmann officiated at her first meeting of the new year.

New members introduced were Mr. & Mrs. Cyril Reese, Mrs. Alex Jenevein, and Mrs. Doris Gieseler. She welcomed all visitors and appointed the following officers: Community Service chairpersons - Mrs. Genevieve Daniels; Civil Defense Chairman - Mr. Henry Mahan; Publicity and Scrap Book - Mrs. Edmee Cagle. Guest speaker was Mrs. Betty Diboll who spoke about the pros and cons of the educational system.

Also introduced were Theresa James, Director of the RSVP in our county; and Eve McDonald, Director of the Multi-Purpose Programs at the Center. They discussed coming events and new programs that are available to senior citizens here.

BRUNCH
The coffee and biscuit sessions held every Tuesday at the Waveland Civic Center from 9:30 - 11 a.m. along with the blood pressure checks has increased in attendance every week in spite of the cold weather.

Our deep appreciation is extended to Mayor Longo, Barbara Rappold and all city officials for the use of the Center for our recreation events.

ILLNESS
The shifting back and forth of cold weather and back to warm weather has taken its toll of seniors who had to be hospitalized.

Recuperating from various ailments in Hancock General are Joe Cacioppi, James Hawkins, Veronica Mohr, Ruth Melleur, Elmer Parsons, Roland Trullier, Napolis Moran, Florence Monti, Rubel Bordages, Annie Bontemps, Andrew Dille, Lewis George, Theresa Fazer, Olive Winkler, Beatrice Breland, Mable Satter.

Our prayers are with all of you for a speedy recovery.

Tragedy, tribulation integral part of early travel

By S. GRADY THIGPEN

This extremely interesting account of a wedding December 7, 1919 in a rural area of Mississippi as told by the bridegroom was sent to me some time back by Mr. Owen Cooper of Yazoo City, as the experience of an old friend of his. Now quoting:

The week just prior to Sunday, December 7, was a very bad, rainy week.

Torrenial rains fell at frequent intervals all during the week. Creeks and rivers were overflowing everywhere. Most of the 20 mile journey to the place of our wedding at an aunt of my wife's was through rugged terrain, composed of generally high hills and creeks.

My mode of travel was to be in an open top buggy drawn by pony. I had not driven the pony to a buggy before. So I did not know the pony would balk and refuse to pull the buggy when she decided to quit.

On Sunday morning, December 7, I hitched the pony to the buggy and I was ready to begin the journey that was very important to me. Yet I had some fears and misgivings about the conditions I was almost sure to face when I reached those rapid flowing and flooding creeks which I must cross.

My sister and her husband were going to escort me. They rode in an open top buggy drawn by a mule. Soon after we started on our way, rain began to fall on us. We found no convenient place to shield us from the rain until we came to a country church about four miles from home.

We went into the church for a while. All of us were wet and somewhat cold. My sister and her husband because of the bad weather returned home from the church. I resumed my journey alone before the rain completely stopped.

I tried to find a route that would place me the farthest up the creeks and hoping I would be able to cross the creeks at points above the floodwaters. The distance was farther.

I had no serious trouble crossing the creeks until I came to a creek about three miles from the home where the wedding was to be.

This creek was flowing rapidly. The water had overflowed and covered almost the entire area between the hills on either side.

The bridge had been washed from the road bed and had settled a short distance down in the creek. I had some fear that I was facing a serious and dangerous condition.

However, I must cross the creek some way. So I drove down into the field. I could see the ends of several bridge boards sticking out of the water. I managed to persuade the pony to step upon the bridge. Of course the bridge had no abutment.

The top of the bridge was about twenty inches above the ground. When the pony tried to go forward, the front wheels would strike the bridge. The wheels would not jump upon the bridge.

Everytime the pony tried to go forward her feet slipped on the bridge. She could not get up until she was released from the buggy.

I stood on the small area of the bridge that was not under water. I unhitched the pony and I lifted up the buggy shaft. The pony stood up and she deliberately walked off the bridge.

I felt defeated and I had not figured a way out when fortunately, an elderly farmer and his three sons who lived nearby saw me.

They came down to the waters edge and advised me what to do. I told them I was on my way to my wedding and I did not want to get any wetter than I already was.

One of the young men said if I would pay him one dollar, he would wade out into the water and hitch my pony back to the buggy. I was glad to pay him one dollar, although I had less than ten dollars to begin married life with.

He waded out into the water. He led the pony to the opposite end of the bridge from the buggy. He led her out of the water. I jumped onto the rear axle of the buggy as it rolled off the bridge. I paid the man one dollar; thanked him for his helpfulness and started on my way again, hoping that the worst was over.

But alas! The pony balked and refused to go, everytime I came to even a small hill. At last I arrived for my wedding a few minutes late. I scraped the mud off my shoes the best I could. I brushed my clothes, then we stood before the minister to assume the vows of matrimony.

I had to forego my plans to return to my parents' home that afternoon, because the existing circumstances made the venture unwise and unsafe.

The next morning we climbed into the buggy, hoping the pony would act better than she did the day before.

Not so, though. We had not driven out of sight of the house from whence we began our journey when the old pony balked again.

A minister came along and he helped me to get the pony started again. We managed to travel about half mile to a place where the road forked near a church. The pony wanted to turn on the left fork. I wanted to turn on the right fork. Trouble again!

The pony refused to go. She sulked and she deliberately dropped to the ground. She lay sprawling in the road. I was forced to unhitch the pony from the buggy, lead her back to where we started from, and exchange her for a mule.

We were soon on our way again. Then it began to rain. We had one umbrella to protect both of us in an open top buggy. We found another route to travel which would permit us to cross the creeks above the flood waters.

This route added to the distance and the total distance was more than 20 miles. We traveled on through the rain. Both of us were soaking wet.

I had borrowed a new, cheap suit of clothes from my brother to wear to my wedding because I could not afford a new suit of my own. The suit was soaking wet when we arrived at home. It had faded all over my other clothing, even my body was covered with dye.

My sister cleaned and pressed the suit, but it never did look fit to wear again. I don't think my brother has ever fully forgiven me for ruining his suit. I was not able to replace the suit. We were now at my parent's home where we spent our honeymoon.

On the following Saturday we hitched a pair of mules to the farm wagon and began a trip back to the scene of our wedding. This trip was for the purpose of gathering up the gifts which the people of the community had for us.

A young heifer cow which Faye's sister gave her was included among the gifts. My brother went with us on this trip to help us return the mule we had borrowed and to help us with the heifer cow and the bumpy pony that we had to return to my father.

About two miles from home we had to drive down a hill and through a deep cut in the road.

A tree had fallen over this deep cut and across the road.

My wife did not see the tree overhead. Therefore she did distance away heard the mules running. They ran out against the tree and if I stopped the mules. I was the chair she was sitting in a short distance behind the had not overturned and wagon.

thrown her back on the floor of I heard my wife screaming.

the wagon bed, she could have easily been crushed to death.

She suffered only minor bruises. The remainder of the trip was without incident of note. We arrived at my wife's sisters' home just after noon time.

We spent our time on Monday morning gathering up the gifts which the neighbors had for us. After we loaded all of our gifts, the wagon was so crowded that the chairs on which we sat had to be crowded into such a close place that we had no room to brace our feet against the jolts of wagon wheels dropping into deep holes or running over rocks and humps.

On Monday afternoon we started on our trip back home. My brother and I took turns at driving the mules to the wagon and looking after the young cow and the pony. When we were about two miles from our home, night had caught us on the road and it was dark.

A little farther up the road, we would turn off one public road onto another public road which we would travel to our home.

We were tired and we were anxious to be at home. So we decided to turn onto a dim, narrow, cut-off road through a thicket of woods. My brother was driving the mules to the wagon at the time. I was handling the young cow and pony.

A road grader had recently cut a ditch along the side of the public road. At the point where the dim cut-off road intersected the public road, there was an open ditch, unprotected and without any warning signal.

My brother could not see the ditch because of the darkness. He drove the mules out into the public road. The front wheels dropped into the ditch. The impact threw Faye and my brother over the front end of the wagon and under the mules heels.

The mules started running away. Fortunately, some people who lived a short distance along the side of the ditch caught the mules. They ran out against the tree and if I stopped the mules. I was the chair she was sitting in a short distance behind the had not overturned and wagon.

thrown her back on the floor of I heard my wife screaming.

16th Section development is area park

Some 12.5 acres of 16th Section land apparently under cultivation at the intersection of Hwy. 603 and 53 in Hancock County are actually being prepared as a county park, Bay Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson reports.

Peterson said several of his constituents, under the impression the land is being farmed by him for personal profit, have questioned him about the matter.

Investigators silent on jury-fix probe

By RICH ADAMS

State and local law enforcement officials have refused to confirm reports that a 12-member jury which found Charles Edward (Chuck) Depreo guilty of murder Jan. 27 was "tampered with" during the six-day trial.

However, Depreo's attorney, James Atchison of Mobile, said Thursday the court had received reports of alleged jury tampering the morning of Saturday, Jan. 27, prior to the jury's decision.

"This fact was brought to our attention in the judge's chambers in discussion with the court and District Attorney Albert Necaise," Atchison said.

"We were told that Saturday morning that State Investigators were advised a call had been made to the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning this," he continued.

"I don't know the details and I cannot comment further. I have every confidence that State Troopers will investigate the matter thoroughly," the defense attorney added.

Moments after court reconvened on Jan. 27, both attorneys and Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant, accompanied by State Investigators T. P. Naylor, Joe Price and P.M. (Mickey) Ladner, Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. and his Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson retired to the judge's chambers for some 30 minutes of private discussion.

The jury delivered a guilty verdict Saturday at 5:37 p.m., following some two hours of deliberation in Hancock County Circuit Court last week.

Depreo was subsequently sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Grant for the April 8, 1978 murder of Janice Ladner.

The trial was the second for Depreo, the first ending in a mistrial in October when another jury could not reach a decision.

Sheriff Ladner declined to comment on the reported incident involving the second jury. An investigator for the Mississippi State Highway Patrol also declined comment on the matter.

The two officials did not deny that an investigation is currently being conducted into the possibility of jury tampering during the trial.

Necaise could not confirm the reports, adding his office would not be involved in an investigation.

Judge Grant said Thursday he has heard "rumors" that an investigation into possible jury tampering is underway, but could not confirm the report.

Reports allege some jurors were seen during the week the trial was underway in cars with non-jury members outside the Waveland Resort Inn where the jury was sequestered each night following court proceedings.

Also, some jurors are alleged to have watched television and reportedly had access to news reports on the trial.

Reports also indicated that members of the jury were freely making and receiving telephone calls while sequestered.

County board president supports school unification

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Hancock County School Board President Woodrow Ladner, at a board meeting Saturday morning, suggested abolishing the county's two school systems and creating an entirely new system in which board members and superintendent would be elected county-wide.

After a lengthy discussion of school system unification and creation of a new school system, board members agreed to send the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District a letter asking that district's board and administration convey their feelings on such a move.

Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph said, "I would be in favor of a consolidation plan whereby the public had a voice in electing both school board members and a school superintendent county-wide."

Board Member Louis Ladner said he is not in favor of consolidation, but if consolidation is the only answer he would also support creation of a new school system in which all officials would be elected throughout the county.

Ladner added, "I would rather have the bond issue passed than have the bond issue passed through."

Board members Monvel Cuevas and Oris Ladner said they would not consider consolidating until they had fully studied the impact and ramifications of such a plan.

Board Member Johnny Banks said he is not in favor of consolidation, adding, "I don't see how consolidation is going to solve the problems of overcrowding in our school system."

Louise Ladner said he would like to publicly answer a letter by Wayne Peterson published in the Echo which stated, in effect, the Hancock County School Board is not in favor of consolidation because Board members would lose their jobs if consolidation occurred.

"If someone can handle the job better," emphasized Louise Ladner, "I'll give it to them today. Besides, if an injustice occurs in school government the injustice is the people's fault."

Randolph interjected saying,

"Wayne Peterson has never attended a school board meeting."

Early choice likely to fill board slot

By EDGAR PEREZ

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said Friday he is seeking an opinion from the city attorney on the possibility a new school board member must be appointed by the Council at its next meeting Tuesday.

Bennett said some 14 names have been submitted for consideration for the post on the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District currently filled by banker Robert Hamilton.

The mayor and council had earlier announced plans to name Hamilton's successor at a Feb. 20 meeting.

Hamilton, a 20-year school board veteran and former board president, whose fifth term expires this month, has asked to not be reappointed.

By late last week, Bennett said state law on such appointments possibly requires they be made at the council's first meeting in February.

The new board member will assume his or her duties at the board's monthly meeting March 12.

City Attorney Joseph Gex was out of town Friday.

Among those persons recommended by groups or school patrons to be considered for the position are:

—Bill Breeland, official of Merchants Bank and Trust Company in Waveland and a former school board member.

—Anita Lamb, vice president of Gulf

Parents object to school use in church-related activities

By RICH ADAMS

A number of irate parents of both public and parochial school students voiced outrage when auditions for an Our Lady of the Gulf Carnival Association team fund-raising talent show were held Wednesday at North Bay Elementary School during school hours.

Parents claimed the auditions were "unconstitutional" and against school board policy.

North Bay Principal Billy Sills said Friday the auditions were conducted with five minutes remaining in classes prior to a scheduled recess period.

Bay School Superintendent J. D. McCullough and Carnival Association officials said Thursday they were unaware the auditions had been scheduled at the public elementary school.

The talent show was to be sponsored by the Billy Sills-Madeline Frendegast OLG Carnival Association team, and was originally slated to take place Friday, Feb. 16 at North Bay.

Sills, principal of North Bay, said

Thursday the event has been cancelled altogether.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, also Thursday, said he contacted McCullough and "put a stop" to interference in normal school schedules for private purposes.

"I told him (McCullough) I do not approve of the matter and will not stand for it," the mayor said.

"I will not put up with this...the Carnival Association is a worthwhile cause, but there is a time and place for everything," Bennett added.

Parents complaining about the auditions, which reportedly interrupted classes Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., said the try-outs violated "separation of church and state."

Unsigned notes were reportedly sent

Longo approves House action on sewerage

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. describes as "satisfactory" the House Committee-approved plan for a three-county commission to design and plan a coast-wide sewerage treatment system.

Until now, the Waveland mayor has been outspoken in his opposition to area-wide sewerage plans presented thus far which have severely limited local controls.

The 12-member commission which will design a new Gulf coast sewerage treatment system was reported favorably this week by the Mississippi House of Representatives Conservation and Water Resources Committee.

The commission will represent Hancock, Harrison and Jackson

Counties and their nine municipalities.

The treatment system, if accepted, would be 75 percent financed through U.S. Environmental Protection Agency grants.

The bill now faces action in the House.

The interim commission will have no powers other than planning and design of a tri-county treatment plan.

The Waveland mayor says that is just the way he likes it—"with no power other than planning."

The approval of any commission will curtail the power of local governments to plan sewerage systems.

Longo said the plan is satisfactory as long as it leaves the final decision to the voters of the three counties.

Under the Coast-wide plan, a wastewater commission would run a wastewater treatment plant, which

Under Carmichael plan Scientific efforts centered in Hancock

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Gubernatorial candidate Gil Carmichael Thursday told the Hancock County Republican Women's Club he has a 4-year plan for Mississippi which includes developing Hancock County into a scientific center.

The potential state governor candidate, who said he will officially announce his candidacy for the office in the next few weeks, was warmly greeted by a dining room filled with club members at the Wheel Inn on US-90.

He described Governor Cliff Finch's administration as lacking a plan or direction for Mississippi.

"When Finch got in office, the Legislature asked him what do you want to do and Finch said I'll do what ever you want," elaborated Carmichael.

"As a governor you've got to know where you want to take Mississippi," Carmichael emphasized. "I have a direction for Mississippi."

"I want to develop Mississippi (which he described as a beautiful piece of real estate) into a dynamic community with my 4-year plan."

In a later interview, Carmichael said his four-year plan emphasizes scientific development in Hancock County, financial development in Harrison County and industrial development in Pascagoula.

All of these counties, said Carmichael, would be used as tourist attractions also.

"Businessmen can do that," Carmichael said. "Hancock County is ready to go."

Carmichael was reported speaker at the gathering.

His four year plan also includes developing Mississippi's economic resources, upgrading all road systems in the state, and strengthening neighborhoods within the state.

"Hancock County should be the egg," Carmichael said.
